

Dear Sirs:

I listen to KLOVE 105.5 FM. It provides me with music that is commercial free and consistent with my moral and ethical values. I am concerned that this station would be displaced by an LPFM station if such stations were given priority over existing FM stations. Already it is hard to find suitable radio programming for my family. The FCC has let the public airwaves become an amoral mess, pandering to the lowest common denominator for popularity as peepshows and freak shows did years ago. I hope that the few current FM stations like KLOVE that are still serving families like mine will be protected for the future. Thousands of listeners and I have supported this station out of our own after-tax dollars. Please consider the needs and wants of those of us that hold Christian values and beliefs.

Sincerely,

James B. Toma
